

Georgios Goukos

Mr. Georgios Goukos is a Graduate Electrical Engineer from the Polytechnic School of the University of Patras and holds a contractor's license (M.E.K.) Class D in the category of Electromechanical Projects, as well as certifications in Pressurized Hydraulic Works, Energy Projects, and Industrial Projects.

He has over 25 years of extensive experience in the construction of complex large-scale public and private projects, having participated in the implementation of major hospital, university, airport, and energy projects throughout Greece.

He has served in executive and technical positions in major construction companies and has contributed to the delivery of projects of high technical complexity and substantial budgets. In the context of the Company's further development and the strengthening of its presence in Central and Southern Greece, as well as in the island regions, his appointment as an Executive Member of the Board of Directors is proposed.
